

Dallas Baptist University Writing Center

101 Common Idioms

An idiom is a word or a phrase with a meaning that is not the same as the literal meaning implied. Idioms can make both speech and writing more interesting; however, they are generally avoided in academic writing.

The English language is filled with idioms. The following are just a few of the many possible idioms you might come across (discover). In fact, idioms are so common, Americans often do not even realize they are using them to color (to make more interesting) their writing or conversation.

Idiom & Definition	Example
A big shot: a person who is important	I had lunch with a big shot executive. He offered me a job during dessert.
A bone to pick: complaint, dispute, or misunderstanding to be settled	I have a bone to pick with Jennifer. She didn't water my plants while I was away.
A pain in the neck/rear: an annoying person, thing, or situation	My brother is a pain in the neck . He's always bothering me!
A snap: very easy	Making cookies from a mix is a snap . Even my little brother can do it.
Across the board: relating to every person and/or situation	The attendance policy is applied across the board . No one is exempt.
All ears: eager to listen to someone or willing to listen carefully	Tell me your story, Debra. I'm all ears!
All in the same boat: in similar situations, experiencing the same thing	None of us have finished our papers, so we are all in the same boat . We will all be up late tonight.
As easy as pie: very simple or easy	Susan told me this class was easy as pie , but I think it is really hard.
Back to the drawing board: return to the planning stage of a project	My plan did not work, so it is back to the drawing board .
Bad-mouth: to say mean and embarrassing things about someone	Kelly is always bad-mouthing people, and that is why no one wants to be her friend.
Bark up the wrong tree: attempting to gain information from the wrong source.	When she told me she wasn't from Texas, I realized I had barked up the wrong tree by asking her questions about growing up there.
Beat around the bush: speaking in an indirect manner or	Get to the point; stop beating around the bush!

avoiding the subject
Beat: extremely tired	I'm beat ! Let's go to bed!
Beats me: not to know (usually the answer to a question)	A: When did Mom leave? B: Beats me !
Bent out of shape: to be very upset about something	Mark really got bent out of shape about the "D" on his history report.
Bite the bullet: accepting punishment or blame for something, or accepting an unpleasant circumstance	I'm going to bite the bullet and go talk to Dad about my bad grade.
Bottom line: the real issue or the most important facts	The bottom line is that Cathy just does not want to do it.
Break a leg: wish good luck	Does the play start tonight? Well, break a leg !
Break someone's heart: to disappoint or emotionally hurt someone	Her dad really broke her heart when he did not come to her graduation.
Break the ice: to do something, usually humorous that helps stop the nervousness people feel when they meet for the first time	Jim broke the ice at the party by starting a really stupid, but funny, game.
Brush up on something: to relearn the basics or improve a skill	I need to brush up on my geography skills because I don't remember the capitals of several countries.
Bug: to annoy or pester	My little brother really bugs me sometimes!
Burn the midnight oil: stay up very late or all night working or studying	I have a paper due tomorrow, so I will be burning the midnight oil tonight.
Call it a day: stop working and go home	Well, I returned all the calls and filed everything, so I think I will call it a day .
Catch some Z's: go to sleep	This has been a really tiring day; I want to go catch some Z's now.
Caught red-handed: caught in the middle of doing something wrong	Jack was caught red-handed cheating on his final exam.
Clean as a whistle: very clean	My husband likes to have everything clean as a whistle , so I mop once a day.
Clean slate: fresh start	Laura's boss gave her a clean slate after she apologized for being late every day.
Cold feet: nervousness or anxiousness concerning major events	Chris got cold feet the night before his wedding.
Cold turkey: to immediately give up a bad habit	Jessica wanted to give up eating junk food cold turkey .
Cost an arm and a leg: very expensive	Ginger's fancy new car must have cost her an arm and a leg .
Crunch time: a time when many deadlines are approaching	For many college students, crunch time is right before midterms and finals.
Days are numbered: time is limited, about to finish or no longer exist	Hank's days on the baseball team are numbered if he doesn't pass his algebra test.
Down in the dumps: sad or depressed	Sarah has really been down in the dumps recently; I wonder what is wrong with her.
Drag one's feet: to be slow and	If Mario keeps dragging his feet , he won't finish

unmotivated about completing something	his English paper on time.
Drive me crazy: to annoy	It just drives me crazy that this little icon won't move over!
Drive me up the wall: to annoy	My mom really drives me up the wall when she plays her classical music while I'm trying to study.
Drop in the bucket: small addition or contribution in comparison to what is needed.	The children's gifts to the society were just drops in the bucket , but the children learned that giving is important.
Drop someone a line: to write to someone	I have not heard from Maria in awhile, so I think that I will drop her a line this week.
Easier said than done: easier to talk about something than to do it	Losing weight by starting an exercise program is easier said than done .
Easy does it!: to be careful by going slowly and gently	Hey! Easy does it! Bill, if you pull too hard it will fall off completely!
Eating someone up: something is really bothering or disturbing someone	A: What is eating her up ? B: Oh, she is mad at her brother right now because he keeps borrowing the car without asking.
Face-to-face: in person	I really want to see my dad face to face before he goes on his business trip.
Fair-weather friend: only a friend when it is convenient	Some people are only fair-weather friends , but Jessica has been a wonderful friend even when things were horrible.
False alarm: to panic over a situation, only to realize afterwards that it was not an emergency	I thought my paper was due today, but it was only a false alarm! I was so mad when I discovered we only had to turn in an outline.
Fell for it: to be tricked	Javier fell for it when Rosa played a practical joke on him.
Fly off the handle: to get upset or angry	My professor was so angry with the students' careless work that he flew off the handle during class.
Follow in the footsteps of: doing the same things as someone you admire when it comes to making important choices	When he took that job, he was following in the footsteps of his father, who is one of the best doctors in town.
Food for thought: something to think about	I really like this column in the newspaper; it gives me some food for thought .
From scratch: to start at the beginning; to make a food without using a mix or begin a task anew	They got rid of the old system and began from scratch . When my grandmother makes muffins from scratch , they are the best in the world!
Get a kick out of something: find enjoyment or pleasure out of something	Maggie really gets a kick out of seeing her friends have fun.
Get with the program: to be aware of something or to be actively working on what is important	I really need to get with the program and finish all my reports for biology lab.
Give my right arm: give	My grandfather would give his right arm to help everything or give a great deal	people in trouble.

Give someone a hand: (a) to help someone or (b) to clap in approval	(a) Rachael, can you give me a hand ? This is too heavy for me. (b) Let's all give Jake a hand for doing so well on the project.
Go against the grain: to be different than what is considered normal or standard	When Mr. Malady decided to protest, he really went against the grain .
Go bananas/Go crazy: extremely excited	When Ellen heard about her "A" on the sociology paper, she went bananas!
Grab a bite to eat: to get something to eat	I'm hungry. Do you want to go grab a bite to eat with me?
Green with envy: very envious of someone	Allison is green with envy because Sarah got the job promotion.
Have your hands full: to be very busy with many responsibilities	Calvin has his hands full this week; he is caring for his sister's two children while she's gone.
Hit the books: to study hard	Megan went to the library to hit the books because she has a statistics test tomorrow.
Hit the nail on the head: to be exactly right	John hit the nail on the head when he suggested Cathy has been so tired because she's been overworked.
Hit the spot: to satisfy a craving or intense hunger	That piece of pumpkin pie hit the spot ; I've been craving it for weeks.
Hold your horses: have patience	Hold your horses! We don't have to go that fast.
In ages: for a very long time	I haven't seen a movie in ages . Do you want to go see one with me?
In over your head: to take on too many responsibilities; to take on something too difficult	Jack really got in over his head when he agreed to work two jobs while taking 18 credits.
In the nick of time: barely on time, nearly late	Wow! Those books came in the nick of time because one more day and they would have been late.
It's a piece of cake: very easy	I thought that the test was going to be difficult, but it was a piece of cake!
John Hancock: a signature	If you just put your John Hancock here, the deal will be complete.
Jump the gun: to do something too soon and too quickly	You always jump the gun , and I never get to tell the story.
Know by heart: to know something by memory	Since I have had to call the electric company so many times, I know their phone number by heart .
Know the ropes: to be familiar with a procedure or the details of a job	It takes new students a little while to get to know the ropes , but then they seem to do just fine.
Make ends meet: make just enough money to survive	I barely made ends meet this month. I get paid next Friday and all I have left is five dollars.
Making a mountain out of a molehill: making a large issue out of something insignificant	George is really making a mountain out of a molehill . Why can't he just see how unimportant the whole thing is?
Ninety (90) to nothing: to be working very hard on something	With everything I have to finish before graduation, I feel like I have been going ninety

usually in a fast manner	(90) to nothing.
Not worth a hill of beans: not worth very much	My car is not worth a hill of beans ; the engine is about to die!
Off the top of my head: to think and do something spontaneously	Sue loves to do things off the top of her head ; when I am with her, I never know what is going to happen next.
On edge: nervous or tense	Karen has really been on edge recently. I wonder what is bothering her.
On the ball: motivated to action	Kevin has really been on the ball recently; he finished all his assignments several weeks early.
On the road: to travel	I hate being on the road because I never get to see my family.
On the tip of my tongue: to almost remember	His name is on the tip of my tongue . It begins with a K, but I just can't recall.
Once in a blue moon: very rarely	Once in a blue moon , the washer machine makes a funny noise.
Pretty penny: a lot of money (usually with the idea of costing or paying a lot of money)	Julie's new car must have cost her a pretty penny .
Rain check: a promise to make an offer available at another time	A: Do you want to go to lunch with me tomorrow? B: I'd love to but I can't. Could I take a rain check ?
Rain or shine: no matter what	My mom said she would be at graduation rain or shine .
Scare the living daylights out of : to frighten someone	When he jumped into the hallway, he scared the living daylights out of me!
Skeleton in the closet: a personal or family secret	Every family has at least one skeleton in the closet that they don't want anyone else to know about.
Sleeping like a baby: sleeping peacefully and soundly	Oh! I hate to wake her up; she is sleeping like a baby!
Sleeping like a log: sleeping well—so much so that a person would not be easily awakened	Grandpa always sleeps like a log ; once he goes to sleep there is no waking him until the next morning!
Spick and span: very clean	It took me two hours to make this room spick and span .
Stab in the back: to deceive or hurt someone who trusts you	Jan stabbed her best friend in the back when she began to date her best friend's ex-boyfriend.
State of the art: the very newest, latest technological devices	Everything Jeff has is state of the art ; he thinks he has to have whatever is newest on the market.
Stick one's neck out: to do something risky (usually for someone else)	Alan really stuck his neck out when he supported the mayor's proposal.
Sweet tooth: desire to eat something sweet	James has a huge sweet tooth ; he is always eating candy.
Talking in circles: to speak in an unclear, illogical manner, often saying the same thing again	When Mrs. Black is tired, she just talks in circles and never really makes a clear point.
That doesn't hold water: reasoning does not make sense;	The theory of evolution just doesn't hold water .

argument does not have enough supporting evidence
That's a bunch of baloney: a lie or a fake; nonsense	A: Did you know that Jill is getting kicked out of school? B: That's a bunch of baloney! I talked to her this morning, and she said it was just a rumor.
That's no skin off my nose: does not effect or harm	It is no skin off my nose that David did not ask me to the party!
The cutting edge: the best and most advanced	Dr. Robins is on the cutting edge of research; he is the most respected scientist at Mayer Hospital.
Through thick and thin: through all circumstances, both difficult and easy, good and bad	It is not easy to find friends that will stay with you through thick and thin .
To know something or someone like the back of your hand: to know something or someone very well	I know that mountain like the back of my hand because I have climbed it many times.
Under the weather: not feeling well	I have been under the weather for the last two weeks. Do you think I should go to the doctor?

Original material copyright © Dallas Baptist University. All rights reserved. Other copyrighted material included by permission or authorization. Created by UWC Staff for Dallas Baptist University. <http://www.dbu.edu/uwc>