

Conjunctions

Subordinate Conjunctions

after	even though	since	unless	wherever although	if	so	until	whether as	in order that	so that	when	while because	once	than	whenever before	provided that	that	where even if	rather than	though	whereas Subordinate conjunctions often begin dependent clauses, which are separated with a comma from independent clauses if the dependent clause begins or interrupts the sentence.

Ex: When she is older, she will inherit the diamond.

Coordinating Conjunctions

for	but	so
and	or
nor	yet

Conjunctive adverbs can be used to join independent clauses; in each case, they should be preceded by a semicolon and followed by a comma.

Ex: She is older now; therefore, she can inherit the diamond.

Common Conjunctive Adverbs

besides	finally	likewise	on the other hand furthermore	however	moreover	rather first	in the first place	nonetheless	then for	in the meantime	notwithstanding	therefore
